

visualSilicon™,
A “mbs Electronic Systems GmbH” software supplier

This is to confirm that Jim Eckerlein has completed software development tasks for an Embedded Systems software project being delivered to our client “mbs Electronics GmbH” (based in Munich, Germany) satisfactorily, according to the requested requirements and within the timelines agreed.

The work involved the development and optimisation of a PDF rendering component for the Qt software framework, making use of the open source Poppler software library. I would recommend Jim’s programming expertise in this regard and would gladly work with him again.
